5. Let Fly the Colours. Releasing the Colours to fly free, either as a salute to dignitaries not entitled to the Royal Salute as detailed in A-AD-200-000/ AG-000, Honours, Flags and Heritage Structure of the CF, or to allow free identification of the flag.

PARADING COLOURS AND FLAGS

7. Guidelines for when Colours and flags may be carried on parade are given in A-AD-200-000/ AG-000, Honours, Flags and Heritage Structure of the CF.
8. The Colour drill in this chapter applies equally to flags when carried on parade, unless specifically noted.

DRAPING THE COLOURS

9. The Colour is draped with a piece of black crepe 2.5 m long and 33 cm wide, tied in a bow at the base of the pikehead so that the span of the bow is 30 cm. The ends, cut on the bias, should hang half-way down the sleeve of the Colour.

COMPOSITION OF A COLOUR PARTY

10. The composition of a colour party carrying one colour shall be:
 - a. Colour Officer – one junior officer (a Guidon is carried by a master warrant officer); and

- b. Colour Escorts – two sergeants (or below, if necessary);
- c. Colour orderly (corporal, drummer or private). The colour orderly usually marches in supernumerary ranks of formations near the guard until needed to attend the Colour, or wait off parade as required.

- a. Colour officers – two junior officers; and
- b. Colour Escorts – one master warrant officer or warrant officer, and two sergeants (or below, if necessary);
- c. Two orderlies (corporals, drummers or privates). The colour orderlies usually march in supernumerary ranks of formations near the guard until needed to attend the Colours, or wait off parade as required.

12. When a stand of Colours is carried, the Queen's Colour occupies the position of honour, i.e., on the right of the Colour party (on the left from the spectators point of view).

COMPOSITION OF A FLAG PARTY

- 13. When the National Flag, Canadian Forces(CF) Ensign or command flags are carried on parade, they shall normally be carried by senior non-commissioned officers.
- 14. Normally, the National Flag has no escort. It may be given an armed escort if the troops on parade are armed.
- 15. The CF Ensign and command flags by themselves are not entitled to, and shall not be attended by, an armed escort. They may have such an escort when paraded in company with the National Flag if it has an armed escort.
- 16. When a flag party carries the National Flag and either the CF Ensign or a command flag, the National Flag occupies the position of honour on the right (on the left from the spectators point of view).

With an "escort to the Colour", they occupy supernumerary positions until called upon to resume their close escort duties. When Colours are ordered to take post in review order, the escorts shall stand fast.

19. Colour Orderlies. When Colours are to be moved cased to a ceremonial parade, a Colour orderly shall be designated for each to assist the Colour officer and take charge of the cases during the parade. In units with a corps of drums, a drummer or bugler is traditionally given this responsibility, with the drum major assisting the adjutant with ensuring that Colours and Colour belts are ready for parades. Since a drummer or bugler with Colour orderly duties is precluded from playing an instrument, any other service member may be selected in lieu.

94. The Colour officers lower the pikes, directly forward, to a horizontal position, as for the last movement of the dip on the march, bringing the crests to rest in the orderlies, cupped left hands.
95. The Colour officers, with the left hand, and the orderlies, with the right hand, grasp the bottom corner of the Colour nearest to them and together fold the bottom edge of the Colour over the pike, ensuring that the fringe also hangs over the pike. The above procedure is executed three times, ensuring that there are no creases and that the Colours are neatly rolled along the top of the pike. As the Colour is folded, successive folds are held in place by the right thumb of the Colour officer and the left thumb of the orderly. The orderlies then wrap the tasselled cords around the Colours three times along their width. The Colour officers grasp the ends of the cords and the Colour in their left hand.
96. The orderlies remove the cases from their left forearms and carefully slide them over the Colours. As the cases are slid to the bottom of the Colours, the Colour officers, with their left hand, assist in pulling the cases fully over the Colours. The officers then tie the laces while the orderlies steady the horizontal pikes. When finished, Colour officers then cut their left arms sharply to the side.
97. When the cases are in place, the orderlies resume their original position, cupping the caps in their left hand, and, upon a signal from the Colour officers, give the pikes an upward thrust with the left hand, assisting the officers to return the Colours to the order position. The orderlies cut their left arms smartly to the side.

99. The Colour party, under command of the senior Colour officer, returns the Colours to their lodging.

101. The senior Colour officer, at the order position, commands UNCASE THE – COLOUR(S).

102. On this command, the Colour orderlies move to a position four paces in front of, and facing, their respective Colour. They halt, salute, take one pace forward and raise their left forearm parallel to the ground, cupping the left hand.

103. The Colour officers lower the pikes directly forward to a horizontal position, as for the last movement of the dip on the march. The caps are brought to rest in the cupped left hands of the orderlies.

104. The Colour officers untie the tapes of the case and grasp the Colours with their left hand inside the case. The orderlies carefully remove the cases and place them over their left forearm, the caps to the left.

105. The senior Colour officer shall then order COLOUR PARTY, TO THE COLOUR, PRESENT – ARMS.

106. The orderlies then unroll the cords, the Colour officers release the Colour and cut the left arms smartly to the side. The Colour orderlies then ensure that the Colours and cords hang correctly.

107. On a signal from the Colour officers, the orderlies give the pikes an upward thrust, assisting the officers to return the Colours to the order position. The orderlies then cut their arms smartly to the side.

108. The Colour officers dress the Colours to ensure that they are evenly distributed on both sides of the pike. The orderlies assist if required.
