

Open RAMPBOOK login

(bottom right hand side of web page -www.newhamburgsoftball.com) and either enter your RAMP credentials (same as you might have used to register for ball), or register for a new RAMP account. If you are creating a new account you will need to create athlete profiles and bind them to your account – follow the steps in the menu on the right hand side of the RAMP main menu page. If you have an existing account, your athletes will most likely show up already bound to your profile, but you will have to update them to their current season, division and team. Once your players are bound and updated, return to the main menu and go to Calendar Sync options to choose the link that best fits your operating device. Calendar feeds will be live, your calendar will just change and update  you will not receive notices unless specifically emailed by your team administrator. Live Team calendars are also available on the website.
